U.S. Railroads To Stop Today

Army Called In; Other Forms Of Transport Asked

Order Suggested So Labor Board May Take Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Office of Defence Transportation, faced with a railroad strike set for this afternoon (with starting times from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m., Victoria time) today asked the army and all non-rail transportation systems to prepare to step into the breach.

Airlines, water carriers, truck and bus systems were asked to assume, if necessary, what share they could of hauling the United States' freight and passengers.

A union statement that "the railroad strike is on" dampened already faint hopes that the rail transportation system of the country might be spared an immediate crippling.

Director J. Monroe Johnson of the O.D.T. conferred with representatives of non-rail groups, including the armed forces, but the brief announcement on the meeting carried no hint of the plans devised, if any.

WIRES NON-STRIKERS

The O.D.T. director also telegraphed the 18 railroad brotherhoods who are not going along with the 250,000 trainmen and engineers on today's scheduled strike. He asked them to continue manning the 337 carriers seized by the government Friday.

"The President having decided that the railroads are to be operated in the possession and control of the government, I will appreciate your co-operation in preserving and continuing rail service," the message to the non-striking unions said.

The announcement of Director Johnson's conference on the use of air, water and highway carriers follows.

"At 11 a.m. today, Col. J. Monroe Johnson, director of the O.D.T., held a conference with representatives of the O.D.T. and Interstate Commerce Commission and of airlines, water carriers, highway carriers, and army and navy to request them to formulate plans for utilization of non-rail transportation facilities in case there is a stoppage of rail transportation."

There was much tension at headquarters of O.D.T., designated by President Truman Friday to run the seized roads, but little outward intimations of actual operating plans.

"DOESN'T LOOK GOOD"

"Everybody is waiting for 4 p.m. to see what happens," an O.D.T. spokesman told reporters. "It doesn't look too good now."

The statement that the strike call remained effective came from Thomas J. Harkins, representative of the eastern division of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, at New York.

At the White House, where President Truman Friday took over the railroads, there was no word as to how the government expected to keep the trains running if the trainmen and engineers chose to ignore the Presidential appeal to keep on working.

Director Johnson told reporters Friday he would continue to operate the trains in event of a walk-out, but was not clear how this could be done. Charles H. Buford, federal manager of the government-operated lines, said he did not contemplate using the military for this purpose.

There was no sign the heads of the two brotherhoods, A. F. Whitney of the trainmen and Alvanley Johnson of the engineers, had any plans for calling off the strike.

In the balance hung the threat of a complete paralysis of the country's economy.

Top union leaders insisted during the morning the strike would start on schedule—and that it would tie up 227,335 miles of trackage if all affected employees obeyed the call.

Strike May Cut Newspapers From Victoria To Mexico

"Nationing of advertising, news and possibly circulation of daily newspapers from Victoria to Mexico City will begin shortly unless new hope of an early end of the strike of 37,000 British Columbia woodworkers is raised.

Victoria's daily newspapers, both relying on the output of the Powell River Pulp and Paper Company for newsprint, will begin to cut the size of their editions next week if the strike situation remains unchanged. Some of the other seven dailies in British Columbia are expected to follow suit.

About three dozen weekly newspapers in the province likewise are threatened with drastic newsprint shortages if the strike continues long.

WATCHED BY U.S.

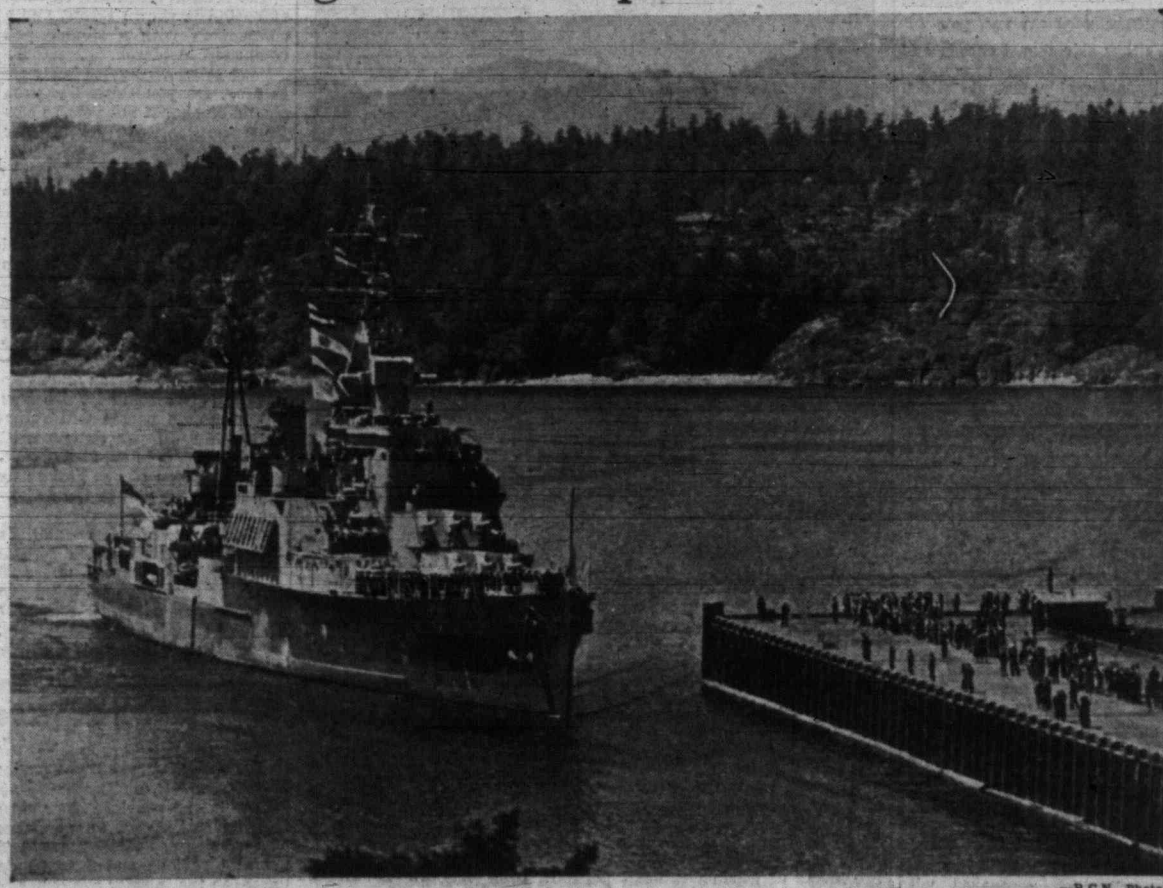

In New York today the walk-out of the B.C. logging and sawmill workers has been cited by Editor and Publisher, newspaper publishers trade journal, as one factor threatening United States daily newspapers with a critical newsprint situation.

The magazine reported the soft coal strike and the U.S. railway strike threatened for this afternoon, coupled with the B.C. loggers and sawmill workers' walk-out, is posing the most serious paper supply problem newspapers have had to contend with in many years.

Editor and Publisher adds:

Victoria Joins Protest On Milk Subsidy Hoist

Mayor Percy George today wired Hon. James G. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, asking that the federal subsidy of two cents a quart on milk be retained at least until the present inflation danger had passed.

Mayor George said that he was taking this action in conjunction with many other city councils across the country, because he felt that to raise the price of milk at this time "is not in the best interests of the children of this country, who form the major consumers of milk."

CHILDREN AFFECTED

He pointed out that the raise in the price of milk, which forms a major part of the food budget of any family with small children, would cause the cost of living index to rise dangerously in this period of threatened inflation and work hardship on families with a large number of small children.

"It will mean," he said, "that the lifting of the subsidy will cause a burden to fall more heavily on those who are trying to raise healthy young Canadians, who are the greatest asset our country has."

Mayor George said he would not oppose the lifting of the subsidy after the inflation danger has passed, possibly by this fall.

Doctors Feel More Confident, Reads Telegram On Janet

A telegram received this morning by John Priestly of the Victoria Lions Club from the father of Victoria's "blue baby" in Baltimore, Maryland, said she was making good recovery progress on the fourth day following her life-saving heart operation this week.

Mr. Priestly said the telegram read that Janet is improving, her temperature was lowering and that she was past the stage of needing artificial respiration. "Doctors feel more confident," the wire concluded.

mayor of the federal milk subsidy, and the resultant price increase of two cents.

E. S. Scanlon, secretary of the council, said "A resolution strongly protesting: lifting the subsidy has already been sent to Hon. J. L. Halsey, Minister of Finance, but he will certainly send a more rigorous protest by air-mail."

Mayor Cornett said he was in accord with the stand taken recently by the executive of the Canadian Mayors' Conference, protesting the lifting of the subsidy.

City Health Officer Murray said, "I am alarmed with the prospect of a two-cent increase if it means depriving some families of what is recognized as a necessary food."

ALL ARE INTERESTED

The Vancouver statements came amidst a number of protests from civic bodies and women's organizations in various parts of Canada.

C. M. Meek, chairman of the Ontario Milk Board, explained that milk tickets purchased at present rates will automatically drop two cents in value when the subsidy ceases June 1.

The federal government announced Wednesday that the subsidy would cease as of June 1, and that the question would be placed back before provincial milk boards. Apparently no provincial board will undertake to continue the subsidy dropped by the federal government.

Meek explained at Toronto that "the recent announcement means that distributors will revert on June 1 to the legal prices in the various markets in Ontario."

Civic groups, consumer and producer associations protested

the federal edict. Harry Scott of Woodstock, president of the Ontario Concentrated Milk Producers' Association, announced mass meetings of milk producers at London and Brockville to discuss the change.

Mayor Robert Saunders of Toronto estimated the two-cent increase would cost Toronto milk consumers $2,660,000 a year.

MESSAGES SENT

After hearing the mayor the Toronto Board of Control cabled messages of protest to Prime Minister King, now on his way to Great Britain, and to members of the cabinet in Ottawa.

The Toronto Housewives' Consumers' League called a protest meeting.

Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Ontario Minister of Agriculture, predicted that when the federal subsidy of 55 cents a hundredweight paid to producers ends Sept. 30 there will be a further increase in the price of milk. He saw no possibility that the Ontario government would pay a subsidy to producers to replace the federal subsidy.

PARIS (Reuter)—Disappointment at the failure of the Big Four Foreign Ministers to reach control of the Saar territory to France was expressed in authoritative French quarters today.

French Disappointed

No attempt was made to disguise bitter dissatisfaction at the attitude taken by the British, U.S. and Soviet Ministers when Georges Bidault, French Foreign Minister raised the question.

Dominion government action to set wages and hours for the British Columbia lumber industry, as a move to get the 37,000 striking woodworkers back to work, was indicated here today as a possible solution of the deadlock between the International Woodworkers of America and the lumber operators.

An authoritative source suggested that the Dominion government may pass orders-in-council authorizing the Regional War Labor Board to set wages and hours.

Such action could bring the woodworkers' strike, which today entered its fourth day, to an end in the near future.

At the same time it was indicated here, however, that the Dominion government was not planning immediate action to settle the strike. Authorizing the Regional War Labor Board to set wages and hours would be a step which the Dominion government would take only after considerable study and perhaps only after further efforts to bring the opposing parties together.

Up until the strike deadline at 11 Wednesday morning the operators and the union had been unable to get together on three points, wages, hours of work and union security. The operators had agreed to submit questions

o union security to an arbitration board, whose findings would be binding on both sides, if the union would call off the strike. The I.W.A. officers had agreed to submit questions of union security to an arbitration board, whose findings would be binding and call off the strike, if the operators immediately would accept the union's revised offer for wage increases and original demand for hours of work, or if the operators would negotiate immediately on these questions.

The operators had refused to negotiate while the strike threat was still on. (See report of Chief Justice Sloan, page 2.)

May Compromise On Wages

If the Dominion government did take this action it is thought possible that the wage increase for the 37,000 woodworkers of the province might be set from 14 to 16 cents an hour.

During the negotiations the union had asked a 25-cent-an-hour increase across the board. The operators had first offered a 5-cent raise, then 10 and finally 12½ cents. The union's revised demand was 18 cents.

When negotiations broke down the operators and employees were four hours apart in their offers for the length of the work week. The union had stuck to its original demand of a 40-hour work week, while the operators had agreed to a 44-hour week—the standard work week to be effected July 1 under provincial government legislation passed this spring.

Meanwhile it was indicated that the provincial government would probably not take any action on the suggestion of Stuart Research Service Ltd., negotiating agency for 147 of the largest operators, that the employees' wage offer be referred back to the employees by referendum.

It was pointed out that the I.W.A. is the certified collective bargaining agency for the employees and is authorized to make or reject any offer on their behalf.

Stuart Research Service Ltd. had contended that the union negotiators may have been out of touch with the rank and file of the woodworkers since the strike vote had been taken 14 weeks before the negotiations broke down.

On the local strike front the following developments were reported today:

1. The I.W.A. local headquarters has announced that scows lying at the Cameron Lumber Co. Ltd., sawmill with 500,000 board feet of lumber aboard, had been cleared for shifting to the C.N.R. wharves for loading for export. Whether or not the International Longshoremen's Union will permit loading of the lumber, which was cut and placed on the scows before the strike deadline, is not known.

2. The union's daily strike bulletin announced that the central strike committee had placed the Stewart & Hudson and the Sidney Lumber Yards on the "unfair to labor" black list and from now on all their lumber is "hot."

3. Call has been set out by W. White, president of the Roller-makers' Local No. 1 in Vancouver, to 165 B.C. unions to meet in Vancouver next Wednesday to devise ways and means to aid the I.W.A. struggle.

4. John Wainscott, secretary of the I.W.A. local in Victoria, returned today from Vancouver where he had been negotiating with Sweeney Co. for a new contract. During the day he reported back to the Sweeney employees. No decision had been reached on whether or not a contract would be signed before the strike deadline at 10 Monday morning, he said.

5. William Hamilton, secretary of the Victoria Builders' Exchange, reported no carpenters or construction workers had been laid off yet in the Victoria construction firms to start the middle of next week. Most builders, he said, had lumber on hand for 10 days' to two weeks' work.

6. Representatives of all Victoria trade unions have been invited to attend a meeting to be held at 3 Sunday afternoon at the Labor Hall, 602 Broughton Street, as which plans to mobilize support behind the I.W.A. strike will be discussed.

7. The I.W.A. local headquarters has received calls for several small operators which have indicated they wished to open negotiations for new contracts at the I.W.A.'s original demands. To date only Victoria firm operating under the new contract is Slater Mills, John Street, a small broom-handle and lath factory.

8. The I.W.A. local in Victoria, which has been set for 11 Wednesday morning if negotiations between the I.W.A. and the operators fail. Such a strike would involve 1,000 lumber workers in 13 operations, lumber was lost in the first two days of the strike to build 812 houses.

"If these figures are correct about a week's cutting would complete all unfinished homes, and another fortnight would take care of local demands for essential building," said the statement.

Deadline for a strike in the northern interior lumbering area has been set for 11 Wednesday morning if negotiations between the I.W.A. and the operators fail. Such a strike would involve 1,000 lumber workers in 13 operations,

Labor Minister Releases Sloan Negotiation Report

Chief Justice Gordon McG. Sloan's report on his effort last Tuesday to bring the B.C. logging and sawmill employees, as represented by the International Woodworkers of America, and the industry together before the strike deadline was released today by Provincial Labor Minister George S. Pearson.

Text of the report, dated Tuesday, and addressed to Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Dominion Minister of Labor, is as follows: On the 11th instant under the provision of Order-in-Council P.C. 4020 of June 6, 1941, as amended, you appointed me an Industrial Disputes Inquiry Commission to endeavor to settle the issues in dispute between the lumber operators of this province and their employees represented by the International Woodworkers of America.

I regret to report my efforts to effect a settlement resulted in failure. Representatives of industry would not enter into negotiations unless the union would forthwith rescind the strike order effective at 11 a.m. tomorrow.

UNION TERMS

The union on its part would not consent to this proposal except on the following terms:

1. Industry to agree to an 18 cents per hour increase in wages "across the board."
2. Industry to agree to institute a 40-hour working week.
3. Industry to agree to the appointment of an arbitrator with power to make a binding determination in relation to "union security" and "check-off."

4. Industry to agree to settle all other matters in dispute through the processes of negotiation with the union.

Industry agreed to the proposals outlined in numbers 3 and 4 supra but refused to enter into any discussion concerning rates of pay and hours of work unless and until the union had canceled its strike order.

The union was adamant in maintaining its position that the acceptance or immediate negotiation by industry of its proposals 1 and 2 were conditions precedent to "calling off" the strike.

As I have indicated industry would not even discuss these two matters while the strike threat remained hanging over its head.

NETHER WOULD DECIDE

Neither side would concede and I was unable to suggest any mutually acceptable formula which might break the deadlock. In consequence the conference came to an end.

I note that in this event I am directed by the terms of my appointment to make specific recommendations as to the manner in which the dispute may be determined. I am unaware of any course of procedure that, in the absence of agreement by both sides, could be adopted to determine the dispute in a manner binding upon the disputants. If there is such an authority then I respectfully recommend that it be exercised.

Cecil Solly Says:

Be Careful of Squash and Pumpkin

Although it is not wise to set out plants of squash and pumpkin until the weather gets warm, it is most important in this climate, to plan quite early to make ready for them.

In most gardens where there is no warm spot, the plants should be started under protection of some sort. The reason for this is that in this district we suffer from late frosts and cold nights. Since this vine family is one that enjoys and responds to plenty of sunshine and heat and is retarded in growth by too much cold weather, it is advisable to get a head start on the weather for best results and big crops.

CULTURE
All of the plants in this group are lovers of warm weather and are all very tender, even to the slightest frost.

For this reason they should never be set outdoors until all dangers of the last frost—which occurs in most gardens in early June—has passed.

However, since our weather provides an abundance of cool and cold nights, it is advisable to get the seeds started earlier. The simplest way to do this is to prepare some rich soil and place it in containers such as berry boxes or flower pots.

Squashes are difficult to transplant unless the soil in which they are started is absolutely undisturbed, so the best plan is to set four or five seeds in each box or pot, where they will quickly establish themselves. When transplanting the whole soil area may be transferred to the garden without causing any check to the growth.

USE COFFEE TINS

Another method that has been most successfully employed is to remove the bottom of several one-pound coffee tins and place them in a "flat" or peach crate. To simplify the transplanting, these bottomless cans may just be placed on an ordinary short board, so that they may be moved into the garden without disturbance.

The plants need only a little protection, so that any place in the house, garage or porch is quite suitable, provided they get plenty of direct sunshine.

It is best to keep them somewhere where they will not be neglected, because they generally need to be watered almost every day. When watering the little plants, don't use cold water. The temperature of the water and also the place where they are grown should be about 60 degrees.

The soil that is placed in the containers should be quite rich. A mixture of rich garden soil and sand are generally best, but any "potting" soil will do as long as it can provide plenty of moisture and is light enough to permit the roots to extend easily.

Some gardeners have found that an easy medium to start the seeds indoors is an old rotted clump of turf. Several of these are placed upside down in a flat or crate and the seeds are pressed into them. A crate will generally hold about six of these clumps. The value of these is that the old grass roots help to hold them together and make the transplanting into the open garden an easy procedure.

Should facilities for starting the seeds indoors be lacking, the only alternative, since the plants must be protected until mid-June, is to plant the seeds out of doors early and to provide some protection until that time.

Many gardeners use hot-kaps, which are really miniature paper greenhouses. Other means of "cover" are waxed paper cones, cardboard boxes, large glass jars or other similar materials. Any cover which cuts out much daylight must be removed as much as the weather will permit during the daytime.

SPACING

The varieties that do not vine but make a large bush, are generally set in "hills" about four to five feet apart each way. The vining sorts need to be at least eight to 10 feet apart.

U.S. Public Wants Draft Continued For Another Year

By American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N.J. — Three important facts about the public's attitude toward the draft are revealed in the latest nationwide survey by the Institute.

1. The public is in favor of continuing the draft for another year. Twice as many persons questioned in the poll approve such a step as oppose it.

2. The majority do not believe that enough volunteers will join the army to make it possible to postpone drafting from May to October, as proposed in the House version of the draft extension bill.

3. The draft act should be amended, in the opinion of the majority of voters, to prohibit drafting of men below the age of 20.

The present sentiment on draft extension is shown below, and a comparison with a similar poll conducted in March.

"The selective service law ends in May. Do you think Congress should or should not vote to continue the draft law for another year?"

The vote:

	Today	March
Should continue	63%	65%
Should not	36%	34%
No opinion	1%	1%

The "draft holiday" proposed by the House was put to voters as follows in the poll:

"The House of Representatives has passed a bill postponing the drafting of any men from May to October to see if enough volunteers will join the army and make the draft unnecessary. Do you think enough people will volunteer?" Yes, 37 per cent; no, 52 per cent; no opinion, 11 per cent.

The question of age limits was covered in the poll in the following manner:

"The House of Representatives has passed a bill which forbids the drafting of anyone under 20 years of age. Do you think the Senate also should pass the bill?" Should, 60 per cent; should not, 33 per cent; no opinion, 7 per cent.

Commons Increases Money Vote To Science Service For Farmers

OTTAWA (CP)—Farmer members of the Commons looked over a wide range of agricultural topics Friday during continued debate on the estimates of the Agriculture Department.

The debate touched on such subjects as the work of scientists in combating diseases and pests; experiments with new strains of wheat; efforts to control the sugar beet nematode; sprays to kill weeds without affecting crops; blight resistant potatoes, and the freight subsidy on grain moved to eastern Canada from the prairies.

MARKETING OF GRAIN

Discussions were interrupted for an hour at the evening sitting to permit adoption of Trade Minister MacKinnon's motion sending to the agricultural committee a private member's bill advocating that the Canadian Wheat Board take over marketing of all grains.

Mr. MacKinnon said the bill, sponsored by Robert Fair, S.C. Battle River, Alta., would, if adopted in its present form, do away with the services of elevator companies and grain exporters. It might throw the wheat elevator companies, including the three prairie pool organizations, out of business.

Preceding the agricultural discussion was Finance Minister Duggan's announcement that Mr. Gardiner will head a 13-man Canadian delegation to a 14-nation food and agriculture conference in Washington May 20. The conference will discuss urgent world food problems.

Among the items passed in the agriculture estimates were eight providing for a total increase of $913,591 in estimated expenditures for the science service branch of the Department of Agriculture. The 1946-47 estimates for the service are $2,814,684 compared with $1,901,093 for 1945-46.

INCREASES IN PAY

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, and J. A. Ross, P.C., Souris, Man., urged more money be paid to agricultural scientists and to civil servants generally. Mr. Gardiner said some increases had already been granted, but the government realized further increases should be made.

Part of the discussion centred on the work of experimental farms, and Mr. Gardiner said efforts were being made to find a rust and sawfly resistant wheat which would produce a high yield and a high quality. There were no new developments in investigations with respect to root rot in wheat.

High Award For Duncan Guide Leader

DUNCAN—The Beaver Badge, highest Canadian honor in guiding was awarded Miss N. C. Denny, Duncan, divisional guide commissioner on the culmination of 35 years service in the Scout and Guide movements by Lady Baden-Powell, World Chief Guide.

The presentation was made before more than 600 members of the movement at the Guide rally held in Nanaimo to welcome Lady Baden-Powell during the course of her North American tour. Miss Denny is co-headmistress of Queen Margaret's School here.

"The honor came as a great surprise," Miss Denny said on her return to Duncan, "but the significance of it was to me more than equalled by the pleasure I have derived from this work, and by that from seeing at the rally the real joy and enthusiasm of leaders and children in the visit of the Chief Guide."

Marsh Resigns Volunteer Fire Post At Duncan

DUNCAN—Pressure of business and aldermanic duties, were reasons given by Hector Marsh in relinquishing his commission as captain, with the Duncan Volunteer Fire Department after 26 years' service and resigning from the department and his post as financial secretary of the organization.

Mr. Marsh is senior member of the department in years of service, having filled the office of financial secretary for 16 years.

Last year members of the department marked his completion of 25 years of service by the presentation of a marine engine for his boat.

"It is with the greatest regret that I tendered my resignation to Chief Chaster," said Mr. Marsh. "Only the realization that I could not devote sufficient time to carry out my duties efficiently led me to take this step. It has been a pleasure and an honor to be associated with the members of the department, who are all conscientious volunteers and have been willing to sacrifice much to benefit the community in which they live."

Chief J. Chaster and all members of the department have expressed the regret they feel in losing the services of the captain and financial secretary who has served so long with the organization.

Chemainus I.O.D.E. Holds Successful Country Fair

CHEMAINUS—A successful country fair and dance, with proceeds to be given to the Second War Memorial fund, for bursaries and scholarships for children of veterans of World War 11, was held in the recreation hall by Arbutus Chapter, I.O.D.E.

The fair consisted of a fish-pond, bingo, miniature bowling, ring-toss, flower stall, snack-bar and guessing-games. The flower stall sold many flowers and corsages, many of which were worn at the dance given as gifts for Mother's Day. The stall on the stage, depicted a rock garden, and as well as cut flowers and plants sold fresh vegetables.

At the dance, which followed, Miss Doris Brooks and Victor Garside won the jitterbug contest with Mrs. G. Lomas, Miss Eden Wayles and E. Holm acting as judges. A spot waltz was won by Roy Tole and Mrs. Harry Wood. General convener of the affair was Mrs. P. Lomas, with Mrs. S. Clement and Mrs. E. Fitzgerald in charge of the dance. Mrs. H. E. Wilson and Miss Marjorie Fletcher the fair, and Mrs. Bob McBride refreshments.

No More Priority Orders For Autos

OTTAWA (CP)—Reconstruction Minister Howe said Friday in the Commons action had been taken to see that no more priority orders for the purchase of motor vehicles would be issued until outstanding orders have been filled.

The controller of motor vehicles, in issuing priority orders, had depended on estimates of production which were "too optimistic" and the result was that there were more priority orders out than could be filled.

Mr. Howe was replying to William Bryce, C.C.F., Selkirk, Man., who had asked why the town of Gimli, Man., couldn't buy a three-ton used truck after having complied with all government regulations and obtained the necessary priority.

The minister said he had no information regarding second-hand trucks, but would inquire of the War Assets Corporation.

Made in Victoria

If you have any doubt that really fine furniture can be made in Victoria we invite you to come in to "Standard" and see the Bedroom and Dining-room Suite; and other pieces made in our own factory right here in your own city. The Standard factory depicted below is an important Victoria industry and employs a considerable number of most highly skilled artisans. Of course, only a very small proportion of the furniture we sell is actually produced here, but it is specially designed and built to meet western conditions and compares favorably with the furniture we bring in from all the great markets of the east. We are happy to be able to make this contribution to industry in Victoria.

STUDY THESE I.W.A. FIGURES and Judge for Yourself...

The following simple arithmetic is based on a statement by I.W.A.'s president Harold Pritchett in the Vancouver News-Herald, May 16th:

Total number of I.W.A. union members	18,000
Total number members voting in strike ballot last February	14,000
Percentage reportedly favoring strike, 93% or	12,700
Total number announced by Harold Pritchett as on strike	37,000

THEREFORE

Percentage reportedly voting for strike last February in relation to total idle through strike	34.32%
Leaving as total number who voted against the strike or who did not vote at all	24,300

IN OTHER WORDS...

The I.W.A. leaders, on the evidence of their own figures, called this illegal strike putting 37,000 people out of work with only about one-third of the workers in the industry reported by Pritchett to have voted in favor of the strike!

DOES THIS APPEAL TO YOU AS DEMOCRATIC OR IN THE INTEREST OF EITHER LABOR OR THE PUBLIC?

Are the operators not justified in their urgent proposal that a new and fully representative referendum of employee opinion be taken at once to test reaction to the offer of $1.00 per employee per day or $9,000,000 additional annual wages which the operators offered and the union leaders rejected?

NOW THE RAILWAYS

OUR NEIGHBOR'S ENORMOUS RAILway system may be practically idle by the time this is read. About 250,000 train-men and engineers and 227,335 miles of track
are involved. Although the strike was timed to begin this afternoon, Mr. Truman ordered the seizure of the whole system yesterday.
To what extent the workers are agreeable
to becoming government employees remains to be seen. Union officials evidently object
to the President's appeal over their heads;
they intimate that all their persuasive eloquence will be concentrated on an insistent
demand that the men remain off their jobs
until ordered otherwise. The office of defence transportation is hopeful that a "very much reduced" train schedule will be maintained—if the strike shall reach the proportions its promoters expect.

If there is anything in the adage that misery likes company, we in British Columbia should be able to nurse our present
troubles with a philosophic calm, sympa-
thizing with our friends in the United States
over this latest disturbance of their national economy. But the spread of labor management trouble benefits but few of the millions who inhabit this continent. Most people will have realized by this time that domestic
peace is almost as difficult of attainment
as world peace. The fact that Canada and the United States are living relatively in the lap of luxury compared to the tragic lot of millions in Europe apparently has no influence where it would seem to be most needed. It is difficult for the average intelligent person to swallow the irony of this situation—which bids fair to get worse.

Whether the current strike in British Columbia's major industry is any nearer a settlement as this is written we do not know.
It is nevertheless becoming apparent to every citizen of this province that if the flow
of wealth from the forests is not resumed
within the next few days, the consequences
which are bound to result will have serious
economic effects for many months to come.
This possibility is not pleasant to contemplate. And any extension of similar disturbances in the United States is likely to produce a psychological complex which has a knack of sealing frontiers.

THEY ARE STILL COLD

DESPITE THE RELAXATION IN STYLE
controls, it may be difficult for the individual to secure the clothes he wants. He must still take his pick from relatively restricted types. But he can request trousers with cuffs and pleats. He can enjoy some selection in the particular cut of coat he desires and—subject to supply meeting demand—he can make his purchase. The requisites for the sartorially elegant have already been laid down by the Custom Tailors' Guild, albeit a bit lavishly, and style is once again becoming a factor.

That is the happy situation in this country. In sharp contrast are conditions reported in Europe where clothing has little to do with up-to-the-minute design, where clothing
is cover and protection from the elements.
Yet it will not be enough if we, as Canadians,
merely congratulate ourselves on the increasing availability of wearing apparel.
Nor will it be sufficient if we extend our sympathy in vocal or written form to the ragged and cold of war-ravaged countries.
It is one of our responsibilities to see that
the garments for which we have little use
are not left to the moths, but are sent where they are most needed. Last fall the National Clothing Collection, sponsored by the Canadian Allied Relief organization in Ottawa, forwarded 12,000,000 pounds of clothing to distressed peoples in Europe. The blessings which they brought may have been heard by a relative few, but they may be imagined.

Next month, from June 17 to 29, another
clothing collection campaign will be conducted throughout Canada to assist those still in distressing need. The period is one to be remembered as Canadians look over their wardrobes. Those pieces of apparel which are not in use, and probably will not be in the circles in which people of this Dominion
move, should be laid aside for that drive.
These cast-off clothes may not make the
man, but they may save his life in the areas
to which they are sent.

THIS NEEDED SAYING

SOONER OR LATER THE GENERAL Assembly of the United Nations will have to deal with the voting procedure prescribed for the Security Council in Article 27
of the Charter. This specifically stipulates
that decisions reached by this important 11-member body on all procedural matters
require an affirmative vote of seven of its members—including the concurring votes of the five permanent members. It is now known to and understood by all the world
as the "veto clause." Under its application,
either Great Britain, the United States,
the Soviet Union, France, or China could nullify
the votes of the other 10. It has already been used to block action considered essential by the majority.

Fortunately for the future effectiveness of the United Nations, the general public is becoming fully alive to the potentialities

of this anomalous provision of the Charter.
And Ron Lester B. Pearson, Canada's ambassador to the United States, has rendered
a distinct service to all member states of the organization by drawing pointed attention
to this weak and dangerous plank in the peace-enforcing structure. In an address he delivered before the English-speaking Union
in Princeton, N.J., the other day, he told his audience in simple terms that the U.N., as
at present constituted has not the power to make decisions and to enforce them, and
never will have so long as the great powers insist on their unrestricted right of veto. He then enlarged on the point as follows:

"I am not foolish enough to suggest that the veto can be abolished now. If that were tried it would break up United Nations. . . . If, however,
United Nations is to preserve peace and prevent aggression, the veto, as it can now be exercised
under the charter, will ultimately have to go,
either by decree or by custom and convention.
The trouble with the United Nations, and especially its Security Council, as at present constituted, is that it has to take the speed of the slowest member. That may even mean moving backwards."

In other words, the basic formula for the preservation of peace which the majority of the delegates to the San Francisco Conference desired to write indelibly into the Charter remains on the operative document as little more than a pious resolve that has faded. It is not good enough to say that the Soviet Union has almost prided herself on the exercise of her rights under Article 27.
So long as each one of the five permanent members of the Security Council enjoys the privilege decreed by the Charter, the ever-haunting menace of "moving backwards" will hover. One of the answers to this and other imponderables, of course, is the determination of all the United Nations to make their organization work, not, as Mr. Pearson has inferred, for "chosen people," but for a war-torn humanity.

IDLE SPECULATION

SINCE WAR-BORN SCIENCE HAS REmoved from the abstract to the actual
many of the fantastic concepts which once provided the H. G. Wells school with subject matter for startling stories, the forecast of Frederic Joliot, leading French physicist, regarding the possible application of future
nuclear developments to the prosecution of a secret war will claim wider attention. M.
Joliot points to potential diversion of great scientific achievement from its altruistic
purpose to an unannounced war in which an aggressor could begin the extermination of
a victim nation without betraying the attack
that was being made.

Newly accustomed to the bizarre and
horrible, the reading public can see the feasibility of his forecast. It might require greater imagination to envision a complicated scientific program to guard against such a campaign. But the direct answer to such a threat might be found in the determination on the part of the common man to see that the occasion for such an attack
never arose. That, in itself, is no simple matter. It would require an ethical development
which has lagged sadly behind the advances made in science. But it would seem a reasonable possibility if the machinery of the United Nations is built in accordance with the spirit in which it was drafted at San Francisco. Furthermore, the elaborations of M. Joliot's theory are unnecessary. Weapons already known are sufficiently potent to
blast humanity from the face of the earth
without "improvement" through intensified research.

CZECHOSLOVAKIA'S FREEDOM

THE ANNIVERSARY OF THE FREEDOM
of Czechoslovakia is a continuous reminder of the history of that little country
in the centre of Europe and, what is more important, of the character of its people.
They have always fought for freedom against authoritarianism, whether imposed from above by their neighbors or by the church.
They have to play the middle of the road between the "security" of Russia and the social-democracy of Austria and Germany.
Their strength lies in their acknowledged leadership of democracy in Europe. Their weakness is that they have no communication with the sea except down the Danube.

This anniversary, however, needs to be celebrated every year and remembered by all the democracies with gratitude and thanksgiving. It is essential to the peace of the world; and Czechoslovakia and its people
want to know that the whole organization
of the United Nations stands at her side both
in fair weather and in foul.

INVESTMENT IN RECOLLECTION

SOME INDEFINABLE QUALITY, SOME
sense of a rich time passing that can never be recaptured, stirs the spirit of the boy bob-fishing from the bank where the swamp deepens into cool clear water. On a day of near perfection he stretches in the sun, gazing down past the float which holds his line into the depths, mottled in gold and
brown where the shade of overhanging trees stipple the bottom. The soft purring of a little stream mingles with the song of the red-wing against the drowsy monotony of the cicada's chant. It is a day without a worry,
a day on which to absorb, unthink-
ingly, the balm that nature offers humans.
Yet with it all, this small ache of solitude
persists, a foreboding of nostalgia for the minutes and hours that are slipping away.
But in its truest sense, this is not a spending of time that, once spent, is lost.
This is an investment for recollection. This

Captain From China

By J. H. GRAY

THE AMERICAN captain from the India-China-Burma theatre had three things on his mind. The first was a reunion with his family the following morning after three years' absence. The second was a monumental hatred of the British Empire and all its Far Eastern works. The third was a fund of hilarious stores of graft-ridden China.

Of the first, he said, little as the train rolled across the Texas panhandle. Of the second, he was exceedingly voluble, and just a bit confusing. Often, in the course of his monologue he would begin with a denunciation of the British in India, and wind up on the opposite side of the argument, defending British rule and lambasting the Hindus. The discussion on colonialism came to a dead end when he reflected that after all the British had hardly done worse in India than white America had done with its own colored race. It was then that he switched to China and the story of the sale of the transport plane.

FORTUNES, he said, had been made by American soldiers in the China black market. Some of the fancier operators, who had salted away fortunes running into six
figures, were now meditating on their luck
in Atlanta, Ga. They would spend the rest of their lives in prison there. Others, who had been more fortunate, got some of their lost back to the States. Still others were holed up in India trying to concoct plans
that would enable them to live in luxury on their wealth and stay out of federal prisons.
This, he admitted, was a difficult problem.
In trying to combat Chinese inflation,
the American government had flown vast quantities of United States currency into China. Great gobs of this lucre stuck to sticky fingers of bureaucrats who immediately proceeded to spend it. They would buy anything, from shirts off American backs to jeeps and supply dumps.

ONE JEEP, IN THE course of a single evening, was sold five different times to different people. The soldiers who sold the jeep would follow their customer and steal
it back from him as soon as he stepped out of it.

But the story he liked best was this one:
A crew of a transport plane was approached
at an inland Chinese airfield by an entrepreneur. He wanted to buy guns and under a whooping roll. They had no guns and asked the customer if he would like to buy the plane.

The customer was more than eager. He offered them his fat roll of $100 bills, a roll
he held in two hands because it was too
unwieldy to hold in one. A deal was immediately consummated. Then the customer,
just a little warily, asked if the plane could
fly. The crew offered to demonstrate its air worthiness before taking the money. The customer climbed in and the plane took off.

THE PLANE CLIMBED rapidly and was soon many thousand feet above the good earth of China. A wrench descended on the head of the customer and his interest in the proceedings came to a full stop. His bank-
roll was liberated and then he was carefully
placed on the bomb-doors. The navigator signalled the bombardier. The doors opened and closed and the customer was gone.

"Don't tell me they got away with that,"
I said.

"Well, you might say yes and no," the
captain said. "They talked too much in a bar
and the Chinese secret police got on their trail. But they never got them. Somebody must have siphoned off and sold half their
gas some place because on the next flight
they ran out over Yunnan Province and crashed into a mountain."

Good Luck, Mr. King!

From the Ottawa Journal (Conservative)
PRIME MINISTER KING has left for the United Kingdom, there to confer with Prime Minister Attlee and Dominion statesmen on matters affecting the Commonwealth, and indeed the world.

This is to say "good luck" to him.
Mr. King's lot as a party leader in this country is to meet criticism; it is our democratic way. But Canadians, we think, are sufficiently civilized politically to know that when Mr. King goes abroad to represent them he goes not as a party leader but as their Prime Minister; as the head of our state. In that role we must wish him well.
And Mr. King, let it be said justly, possesses the qualities and experience to represent us. He has been on the national and international scene a long time; has walked with the great; has had the good fortune to play a part with those who made a difference. Indeed, of world statesmen who today
hold office, only one—Prime Minister Smuts
of South Africa—surpasses Mr. King in length and breadth of experience. In a world
desperately needful of wisdom that is no mean equipment.

THE LITTLE CENTRE

It gratifies me to hear that the Vancouver Island Region of the Federation of Canadian Artists
has established an art centre
known as "The Little Centre." I hear it is to be opened early in June with an exhibition of the work of the late Emily Carr of your city.

This is a non-profit making
venture, and the first real effort
to establish a centre for the arts
in Victoria, and those who established this centre deserve not only the thanks of every citizen,
but the support of each one. It is only by such support that "The Little Centre" will be able to function and grow.

IT'S WONDERFUL!

In reply to your recent article
on the Father Divine movement
by Nancy Hodges, it is very plain
to me one does not know what
she is talking about.

It tells you in the good book
that the light will shine in the east and travel to the west, and so shall the coming of the Son of Man be. It also tells you His name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, the Mighty God, the Everlasting Father, the Prince of Peace.

That's the reason they say Peace it's Wonderful, and it is,
and if Nancy Hodges had been

have a new mind and a new

Uganda's Crew Given Joyous Welcome Home

Jubilant men of the Uganda Friday afternoon waited but a few minutes after the cruiser had warped into her Esquimalt dock before streaming ashore to greet waiting wives, children and parents.

It had been a long wait for those at home . . . more than three months . . . and the sight of the Uganda men again, tanned and healthy, was a good one. Some of the relatives went aboard ship and greeted their men there. In the meantime a steady line of seamen went up the road and through H.M.C.S. Naden's gates where taxis did a booming trade.

The men wore "H.M.C.S. Uganda" on their cap tallies. When they left, they had worn the non-committal "H.M.C.S." but a shipment of tallies was sent to the men while they were at sea.

At the gangway when the ship docked, Capt. C. D. Donald, commanding officer, H.M.C.S. Givichy, and Capt. J. C. Edwards, commanding officer, H.M.C.S. Naden, accompanied by the wife of Capt. E. R. Mainguy, O.B.E., Uganda's commander and newly-appointed commanding officer Pacific command, which appointment he will take over Aug. 1.

In the Uganda's wardroom, commenting on the appointment, Capt. Mainguy said it was an ideal move. "It means I'll be going ashore and that suits me," he said. The captain said he would be going on leave July 5 and expected to assume his new position on his return.

As for the future of the Uganda, he said he expected she would sail again about July 28. He thought she might go to Vancouver for the mainland city's Diamond Jubilee celebration. Following that, the Uganda will be expected to take other naval trainees out on summer training cruises.

Capt. Mainguy said quite a number of South Americans the Uganda's men had met were able to speak English. This was particularly so in the case of the navy, he said, as the South American seamen, who, like most of their countrymen, once took French as a secondary language, found English more useful in their trade by virtue of the fact most good naval text books were in the English language.

MARKETS IN SOUTH

He believed South America offered a great market to Canada. At every port the ship had called, he said, there were at least some Canadians to be found. And they seemed to be well established.

There were few casualties in the 18,575-mile cruise made by the Uganda. A few sprained wrists and a twisted ankle or two were suffered by some of the crew. One man, G. Stewart, a Montreal steward, died following an electric shock while ironing aboard ship. He was buried at Rio de Janeiro in the Anglican cemetery there. Naval Chaplain Orville P. Hossie officiated at the burial.

Capt. Mainguy expressed satisfaction with the crew, which included a large number of naval trainees.

faction with the crew, which included a large number of naval trainees.

He was also greatly pleased with their general conduct.

On the first day or two out of Esquimalt, some of the naval trainees suffered from seasickness, but when, after a long period of exceptionally good weather, the Uganda ran into sloppy weather again, the recruits had gained their sea legs and did not suffer.

Capt. Mainguy was not prepared to calculate the value of the cruise as a goodwill tour. That would be a matter for the Department of External Affairs to judge, he said, but he added the Uganda's crew had been given tremendous receptions wherever they went.

CIRCULATION 100,000

The Legionary, official national magazine of the Canadian Legion, has hit record circulation figures with more than 100,000 copies of the May issue distributed. The editor, Capt. John Hinde, took over the magazine in 1932 when the circulation was a struggling 11,000. Recently there has been such a demand for the magazine that only paper restrictions have kept circulation figures from going much higher.

VENTURES DOING WELL

Several Victoria veterans have launched their own businesses with Department of Veterans' Affairs' help and advice, and are now doing well. A pensioner has opened a woodworking shop. Although he has only one arm, his work is considered excellent, and he has obtained contracts with well-known Victoria firms. One woman veteran is operating her own dairy and mixed farm, and another, with no previous civilian experience, has gone into the photography business, and is making a success of it. Two veterans, brothers, have gone into the luggage manufacturing business and are optimistic about their future if they can obtain enough materials.

HOSPITAL AREA 40 ACRES

Shaughnessy Hospital, a modest little wooden building accommodating 250 patients before the war, will occupy 40 acres when expansion is completed. Already more than $2,500,000 has been spent since 1940 on the hospital. A large new chest unit now under construction should be ready for occupancy this summer, and erection of a new psychiatric unit is being planned.

'Y' Plans Campaign To Raise 8-Million For Rehabilitation

"The youth situation around the world is critical and as the hope of the world lies in its younger generation we of the Y.M.C.A. are taking immediate steps on the urgent problem of building up morals, health and leadership," said J. Hartley Fowler, secretary of the National "Y" Council's world service department, on his arrival for a two-day visit in Victoria.

Mr. Fowler is on a Canadian-wide tour of Y.M.C.A.'s and today met the staff, board of directors and program department personnel of the local association. He gave them a picture of the tremendous job ahead of the "Y" world service following the destructive war years in the service of youth. Tomorrow morning he will speak to members of the youthful Y.M.C.A. prep class. From here he will go to Seattle.

The United States and Canada, he said, collaborate in the world service program, which has been going for 57 years. In pre-war years 32 countries were serviced. The war cut the number to 13, "but we expect to be back in 26 countries this year." He went on to report that their work had received high commendation from leaders of countries and that we have been asked to enter eight more countries this year in addition to the other 26.

MORE SECRETARIES

In his talks to the local groups, the visitor said the Canadian Y.M.C.A. was seeking to send out 15 more secretaries to scattered parts of the world this year. Canada had 10 in the field, he said, including Victorian Robert G. Gibson, 295 View Royal, who recently returned from Y.M.C.A. war service in India and Burma.

Since the "iron curtain" has been lifted word had been received that 83 Y.M.C.A.'s were destroyed totally or badly damaged.

In the Philippines, alone, 15 of 18 "Y" buildings were completely wrecked. "Still worse, 606 'Y' secretaries, many of whom were imprisoned, lost their homes and everything they possessed except their marvelous faith and courage. The most remarkable thing about these men is that not one collaborated with the enemy."

WORLD CAMPAIGN

Mr. Fowler put emphasis on the forthcoming campaign to secure funds to assist the war-torn countries get back on their feet. "Next year the Y.M.C.A.'s of North America are holding a world youth campaign for $8,675,000 to help accomplish rehabilitation of destroyed and damaged buildings, for the restoration and training of secretaries in former countries where war raged and for extension of the movement and meeting the urgent needs created by war in both Canada and the United States."

The speaker said this sum amounted to a little more than one-tenth of one day's expenditure.

VICTORIA DAILY TIMES: Saturday, May 18, 1946 5

'Y' Membership Hits 1,363 Mark In April

Victoria Y.M.C.A.'s membership up to the end of April reached a total of 1,363, as compared with 804 for the corresponding period in 1945, it was reported at Friday's meeting of the board of directors.

J. Hartley Fowler, national council secretary of world service, Toronto, spoke on the titanic job ahead of "Y" service in the postwar world.

Reports were read from all departments.

Saturday Nite Club's dances are drawing capacity crowds and the war by Great Britain alone and stressed how important it was to enable the "Y" the world over to do much good for many millions.

There were still 5,000,000 prisoners in camps in the world whom the "Y" is serving. Also receiving attention are the millions displaced and hundreds of thousands of orphans.

proceeds going a long way toward paying expenses of the program department. Phalanx Club is sponsoring a "Family-Night" at the Crystal Garden June 13 to raise funds for "Y" activities.

The physical department work, as reported by Warren W. Martin, dealt largely with the splendid way in which the swimming club added to its championship record in April. It can now boast more than a dozen Dominion crowns and Canadian record-smashing marks.

In the boys' work department Ollie Goldsmith is active on behalf of the youngsters. He is coaching a "Y" football school and will be in charge of a basketball school.

Membership now include 274 discharged service personnel. The summer program schedule includes outdoor activities such as fastball, tennis, hikes, beach parties and campaign trips. If a boat can be chartered an excursion will be held in July.

Path-riders To Be Fined, Police Warn

A warning that cyclists violating the law by riding their bicycles on sidewalks and park footpaths will be prosecuted, was made by Police Chief John A. McLellan today.

In asking parents and teachers of children who were the main violators of the cycle-riding rules, to assist the police in stopping the practice, the Chief pointed to the number of recent cases where elderly people have been knocked down by bicycles.

"The children perhaps do not realize fully the serious traffic hazard they create and I ask their parents and teachers to impress upon them the fact they are violating the law when they ride their bicycles along or across any sidewalk or any footpath in Beacon Hill and other city parks," the chief said.

GLOBAL SURVEY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press World Affairs
Writer

When Alexander Parodi, French delegate, yesterday assumed the presidency of the United Nations' Security Council for the ensuing month, he emphasized that "our task is to maintain and develop the spirit of co-operation."

The evening before that Dr. Hafez Atfi Pasha, the Egyptian delegate, on relinquishing his month's presidency, made a remarkable little speech in which he confessed he was somewhat depressed because he felt that "during the month of my chairmanship we have not succeeded in fully accomplishing the task that was entrusted to us by the United Nations," he continued:

"I believe that the peace-loving peoples of the world—and I am convinced that the great masses inhabiting this planet are all peace-loving—this great mass of humanity is disappointed with the state of affairs that prevails in the world a whole year after VE-Day. . . . It is disappointed because it feels that a just and lasting peace is still far off. It is disappointed because it believes that the powers are not working as a united family of nations in the interest of all the people, but are trying to further their own interests without regard or consideration for others."

That strong talk. Whether the doctor is right in his belief that people feel the powers "are trying to further their own interests without regard for consideration for others," it obviously is true that the powers "are not working as a united family."

The steadily-growing divergence of views among the Big Three—between Russia on the one hand and Britain and the United States on the other—certainly has got the United Nations' organization off to a bad start. These same differences have in painful degree nullified the labors of the Big Four Foreign Ministers' Conference in Paris.

Woodcock Gets Praise Despite Kayo In 5th

NEW YORK (CP)—International good will glowed along Jacob's Beach today as calloused tight followers praised Bruce Woodcock, British Empire heavyweight champion, for his North American debut.

Woodcock, 25-year-old Yorkshire railwayman, was knocked out in the fifth round of his 10-frame thriller at Madison Square Garden last night by Tami Mauriello, Bronx tavern-keeper, but his game and effective display did much to erase the low reputation of previous British heavyweights.

Promoter Mike Jacobs told Woodcock as he recovered from his punnelling that he was welcome to fight in the Garden any time he wished. Jacobs also had a pat on the back for Mauriello, saying that he favored a match between him and the winner of the June 19 world heavyweight title match at Yankee Stadium between Joe Louis and Billy Conn.

Meanwhile, there was the prospect of a rematch between last night's stars. Both Woodcock and Mauriello said they would like to meet again, possibly in London.

A crowd of 13,749 paid $98,590

to see the fight and cheered Woodcock consistently. The Briton, cool and efficient, forced the fight from the opening bell. After a fairly even and cautious opening round, Woodcock took the second and third. He shook up Mauriello in the third with a hard right which cut the New Yorker's eye but lacked his rival's experience and failed to finish him out.

In the fourth, Mauriello rallied and almost knocked Woodcock out with hard left hooks. The 22-year-old ring veteran pushed his advantage in the fifth and cut up Woodcock's face with hammering rights and lefts. Woodcock, showing considerable gameness and durability, came back with punishing right hand body punches and had just landed a stiff right hook when Mauriello caught him with a savage right hand blow that caught him on the point of the chin.

The Empire tilist whirled and fell to the canvas on his back. He staggered up at the count of nine, but was obviously finished. Referee Eddie Josephs stopped the fight.

Woodcock pulled down about $30,000 for his share of last night's battle.

Flying 'Y' Swimmers Prepare For B.C. Gala

Mermen and mermaids of the Flying "Y" Swimming Club are busy these nights preparing for further honors campaigning on Saturday, a British Columbia championships gala at the Crystal Garden June 1.

Powerful entries are expected from Vancouver for the big meet, to be sponsored by the "Y" club. Heaviest participation from the mainland will likely come from the Vancouver Amateur Swimming Club and the Vancouver "Y" Olympic Club. McKinnon says there is a possibility that the U.B.C. Crescent Club will contribute a number of entries and representation is looked from the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club.

Coach McKinnon and the club executive have got together and set up a 23-event program of swimming competitions embracing all age groups of both sexes. Diving exhibitions are also being arranged.

The local coach reports that this meet is particularly important to B.C. swimmers, as it will have a bearing on who will represent the province in the Dominion championships meet to be held in Hamilton July 5 to 6.

And, in view of this, competition should be the keenest witnessed this year in either city.

Decision has not yet been reached whether B.C. will be represented by a single team wearing the province colors drawn from the various clubs, or the clubs will operate individually, to have representation in the national two-day meet. Should it be a team affair, the chances later eliminations is a possibility.

FLYING 'Y' AT BEST STRENGTH

The Victoria Flying "Y" Club, of which Ron Neilson and Ina Salmon are senior captains and Peter Salmon and Myfanwy Nixon the junior captains, will be on hand at its best possible strength.

McKinnon, who has about 300 swimmers splashing in the pool these days from beginners to experienced hands, will have a half hundred to choose from to sport "Y" colors in the meet.

He will make his choice from: Senior men—R. Neilson, Dick Bowden, Len Coverdale, Percy Riddle, Rod Neilson, Bill Turkington, Don Smyth, Ted Rau, Ken Hurn, Jack Todd and Bob Johnston.

Senior women—Joan Morgan, Leslie Rimmer, Ina Salmon, Doria Rainey, Aileen Smyth and Irene Fairbairn.

Junior girls—Jean Mills, Joan Snape, Joan Edwards, M. Nixon, Audrey Schofield, Gail Keyworth, Marg Freeman, Louise Naysmith and Isabel Henley.

Junior boys—Wadie Hansen, P. Salmon, Jack Creedon, Eric Jubb, Jack Morgan, Lorne Bowden, Bill Patey, Bruce Baird, Barry Cavaness, Bobby Clarke, Walter Standbrook.

Juvenile girls—Sheila Johnson, Margaret Wood, Patsy Wright, Jeany Patey, June Orchard and Jeanne Mackay.

Juvenile boys—Ray Jubb, Art Speed, Bob Nicol, Peter Kirchner, Emyln Wynne, Keith Howard and Garry Culhane.

Three Circuit Blows Give Spokane Victory

SATURDAY, MAY 18, 1946 PAGE 9

Base Hits Scarce

Spokane Indians registered their fifth straight win over Victoria Athletics Friday night in their current Western International League ball series, but not until the local club had given them a bad scare in the ninth inning. Down 5 to 0 going in to bat for the last time, the A's pushed two runs across the plate and had two more men on the bags before the Indians retired the side.

Towering home runs off the big bats of outfielders Bob Patterson and Levi McCormack and second sacker Marty Martinez carried Spokane to its victory. All three circuit blows came in the first three innings as Indians moved into a 5 to 0 lead, but from that point on southpaw Dick Conover, latest addition to the Victoria mound corps, hurled shut-out ball. The tall, slender lefty came up with some smooth pitching after getting settled and his curve ball and change of pace finally halted the siege guns of the Indians.

Winning moundman was Bob Kinnaman, a fast-throwing right-hander, who had the A's in his hip pocket until the ninth. For eight innings he hurled two-hit ball, a pair of singles off the bat of outfielder Eddie Murphy. Kinnaman struck out five and issued no walks as he showed per fact control. Conover's record was five strikeouts and six passes.

HEAVY HITTING

Spokane moved ahead in the first frame on Patterson's line drive over the centre fence for a homer. A walk and a pair of single gave the visitors another tally in the second. Third inning saw big McCormack smack an inside the park homer to deep rightfield with one aboard and Martinez lifted another pitch out of the park for Spokane's final counts.

Held scoreless until the ninth the A's gave the crowd a thrill with their belated rally. Frankie Cirimele led off with a stinging double to left field. Lowe smacked one through the centre for a single, Cirimele romping home. Murphy drew a life as Risk fumbled his ground smash. Hughes popped up to Fietti at first. Mulachy came up with a line single to centre. Lowe scoring. Kinnaman settled down and forced Cherry to lift a high fly to James in centre field for the third out.

Martinez with a homer and double was the leading sticker of the evening.

How the Friends Of Jesus Responded

Scripture: Mark 1:16-20;
5:18-20; 10:46, 52; Luke 5:27-28
By WILLIAM EGHLOY, D.D.
A modern hymn-writer has written:

"I've found a Friend, O such a Friend;
He loved me ere I knew him;
He drew me with the cords of love,
And thus he bound me to him."
That was precisely what happened among the first disciples, as they responded to the friendship of Jesus, and heard His call. Fishermen left their nets as He invited them to become fishers of men.

Levi, renamed Matthew, a publican (that is, a Roman tax-gatherer), despised for his work by many in the community, left his government job when Jesus said, "Follow me." His name is honored in the first book of our New Testament.

He prepared a feast for Jesus in his house, and a great company of publicans and others were there. People reputed to be religious were outraged by such a scene, and they complained to the disciples, "Why do ye eat and drink with publicans and sinners?"

How many of us "good" religious people would react differently today, if the unrecognized Christ came into a modern community, and attended a party with many persons of bad reputation? It is a common maxim that "a man is known by the company he keeps," but that isn't always a good criterion.

What an answer Jesus gave to His "respectable" critics. "They that are whole need not a physician, but they that are sick." He never implied that the publicans were better than the Pharisees. As a matter of fact, among the strict sect of the Pharisees were many fine and earnest people. What Jesus did imply was that the publicans needed Him most.

What a different world this might be if all who profess to believe in Jesus were filled with the same zeal for helping those most in need—the sinful, the discouraged, the poor and needy, the careworn and heavily laden! If we had been living when Levi gave his party, would we have been with Jesus among the guests? Or would we have been among those who looked in, and found fault?

What sort of response do we make to the friendship of Jesus? Do we try to be friendly, as our Master was, to those who need understanding?

There were two sorts among the friends of Jesus. To some He granted the privilege of following Him and being in His company; to others He gave the harder task of going home and telling of Him in their own communities.

Sometimes it is in plain, unexciting tasks that we can best serve Jesus and show ourselves His friends.

Union Sanctions
Removal Of Poles
Several truck-loads of poles, representing 145 logs in all, will be moved from Otter Point to Elk Lake under union sanction because there is danger that the poles might deteriorate if left at Otter Point.
I.W.A. local headquarters here
said that while the poles were considered "hot" their removal
from Otter Point had been approved on the understanding of the recipient, Jack Barraclough,
that they would not be used after placed in storage here while the strike was on.

DeFrane Acquittal Marks Close Of Spring Assizes

Spring Assizes came to a close in the Court House Friday evening, when a jury after deliberating two hours and fifteen minutes, brought in a verdict of not guilty in the case of William DeFrane, 26-year-old street car operator, charged with manslaughter, arising from the death of Feder Pederson under the wheels of a street car, April 19.

The jury added the following written rider:

"From evidence submitted, we are of the opinion, that the so-called safety fender defeats its own object, in as much as the fender can be reset from a position not in view of the operating mechanism.

"We therefore recommend that the safety fender only be reset, from a position in full view of said fender, and proper instructions be given operators."

Mr. Justice A. M. Manson, presiding judge, will impose sentence Monday morning at 10.30, in the court house on the case of James P. Brown, who was acquitted on a charge of manslaughter and found guilty on a charge of dangerous driving.

Male Job Vacancies Drop This Week

Job vacancies for men stood at 689 this week as compared with 821 a week ago, but National Employment Service has not really felt the effect of the loggers' strike yet, C. A. Mudge, manager of the Victoria office, said Friday, in releasing the figures.

Vacancies for women were up slightly with 370 this week, he said, compared with 353 last week.

"Naturally employers in the lumber industry have canceled some orders, but it has not made much difference as yet," said Mr. Mudge, adding that he thought decrease in vacancies, was mostly due to material shortages which existed before the strike.

Poles Selling Red Cross Gifts Sent By Canada

HERFORD, Germany (Reuter)—Thousands of displaced Poles in the British zone of Germany have so much food they are selling Red Cross parcels—many of them from Canada—by the ton to the German black market, public safety officials said today.

They also are doing a big trade in meat from cattle stolen from farms near the camps.

Black market trading in Red Cross parcels, in which millions of marks already have changed hands, was exposed by investigators who said they discovered evidence of heavy food waste in many of the British zone's 150 Polish camps.

A senior public safety officer said "a great many Red Cross parcels are sent from Canada, and it seems very few recipients eat the contents."

Byrnes To Report On Big 4 Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Byrnes returned from the Paris Foreign Ministers' conference today and announced he would report to the United States on its transactions Monday night.

Otherwise, the secretary, who had left for the Paris conference with relatively small hope of success in writing European peace treaties, had nothing to say on the outcome of the meeting which many diplomats termed an almost complete failure.

CORNWALL, Ont. (CP)—Fire believed to have started from a cigarette butt early today caused damage estimated at $50,000 to a combined store and poolroom and bowling alley on Cornwall's main street. Owners of the business are Fred Stamford and Alfred Kennedy.

Appointment of A. M. Brown, 940 Fullerton Avenue, to a post in the office of the municipal clerk and treasurer of Esquimalt, was announced by Reeve Thomas Haddfield, following a special meeting of the council Friday.

The Anti-Chlorination League has written the City Council suggesting that two water experts be brought to Victoria to inspect the water system here. The league will meet May 29 in the City Hall.

C. Penzer of the Empress Hotel Barber Shop, has written the City Council protesting against a move to have barber shops closed all day Wednesday, contending such a move will work a hardship on the guests at the hotel and interfere with tourist trade.

Commercial Projects Boost Victoria Building Total

Three large commercial building projects, 11 houses and one duplex placed the city building figure for this week at $253,505, putting Victoria far in the lead of the other municipalities of the Greater Victoria area. The city issued 41 permits during the week.

Total building permits in the area were $345,460 for the week. Of 23 building permits issued in Saanich during the week, 14 were for dwellings. Total value was $58,005; and value of the dwellings, $54,250.

Included in the new building will be a combination tea-room and house, nine rooms, to be constructed on Beaver Lake Road at a cost of $5,000. A six-room home will be built on Alderley Road for $8,500; a five-room house at 1887 Taylor Street for $6,100; a five-room house at 3347 Richmond Road for $5,800, and a four-room house on Esson Road for $5,400.

Four permits were issued in Oak Bay during the week for construction valued at $17,850. Two of the permits were for houses costing $17,500. They were for an $8,500, six-room house at 2125 Lansdowne Road and a $9,000, five-room house at 2001 Lansdowne Road. The other two permits were for alterations valued at $200 and $150.

Four permits, three of which were for dwellings, were issued in Esquimalt this week for construction totaling $16,100. One permit was for erection of a four-room dwelling, at 869 Wolaston, to cost $5,500; a five-room dwelling on Bewdley, to cost $5,000 and a four-room on Tillam Road, at $3,600. A permit was issued for erection of a garage at 645 Lampson to cost $200.

Putnam, Gordon Talk On Milk Situation

Provincial Agriculture Minister Frank Putnam was conferring today in Ottawa with Prices Board chairman Donald Gordon on withdrawal June 1 of the federal consumer subsidy of two cents a quart on milk, he informed Deputy Minister Dr. J. B. Munro.

Putnam is in Ottawa to discuss with the Dominion Department of Agriculture the possible extension of Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act coverage to British Columbia.

Meanwhile, Premier John Hart said authority over fixing of milk prices would not pass to the provincial government until June 30.

Appointment of the one-man milk board, with powers similar to those of the Public Utilities Commission, will not be made until after Mr. Putnam's return from Ottawa, it was indicated.

These cruises will be operated every Wednesday until the close of the summer season.

At the same time a sketch of the late Dr. Talmie was presented by B. A. McKelvie, on behalf of the Vancouver Daily Province, to Miss Josette Talmie, sister of the late Premier of British Columbia.

Victoria Cancer Campaign Opens May 27 To June 15

Plans for Victoria's Conquer Cancer Campaign to be launched May 27 to June 15, in order to raise funds to combat the rising tide of mortality from cancer, were furthered at a meeting of the organizing committee, under the directorship of G. H. Stevens, in the Health Centre, Friday night.

Mr. Stevens outlined details of the campaign to the canvassing division. Interest of Victoria's medical profession was evidenced by the attendance of Dr. J. D. Hunter, Dr. Richard Felton, Dr. J. L. Murray Anderson and Dr. G. D. Ross McNeely.

Mr. Stevens stressed the fact that all funds raised in the drive would be wholly spent in B.C. for the education of the public, the furtherance of cancer research and for the expansion of diagnostic and treatment facilities already available in this province.

Col. J. Q. Gillan, president of the B.C. Branch of the Canadian Cancer Society, reviewed the history of the founding and objectives of the society and stated that money raised would be made available to the B.C. Cancer Foundation, in its fight against the malady which takes the lives of one out of eight persons in Canada.

Among those participating as division heads are C. C. Annett, G. W. Walton, P. Weston, Warren Martin, Dennis Hagar, Mrs. Blair Reid, Nigel Tomlin, Col. C. Wightman, W. H. Warren and C. A. Allen Heaney.

A 15-year-old boy, Joseph Stadler, 1223 Lockley Street, received cuts to face and jaw when his bicycle was in collision with the rear of a truck on Esquimalt Road at 5.20 Friday evening.

Because of popular demand, the exhibition of the scale model of Mulberry, the British prefabricated port, which was to have closed today, will be opened on Sunday from 10 in the morning to 6 in the evening.

Victoria is one of the last Canadian cities in which the exhibition will be seen before the British Mulberry mission to Canada, headed by Col. V. C. Steer-Webster, O.B.E., returns to England.

'1001 Nights' Comes To York Screen

Evelyn Keyes has a startling new hair shade in her current film, Columbia Pictures' "A Thousand and One Nights," which features her with Cornel Wilde, Phil Silvers and Adele Jergens at the York Theatre Monday.

Director Al Green wanted Evelyn, who plays the role of the Genie-of-the-Lamp in this technicolor extravaganza of old Baghdad, to have an eerie, unearthly quality in the fantasy. Experiments in make-up followed. Finally it was decided to try a tangerine colored spotlight on Evelyn's own red hair. The technicolor cameras transformed the actress' locks into something uniquely lovely and colorful.

With the lighting effect, Evelyn's hair looks like tangerine flame. She was tagged "the tangerine blonde."

DOMINION THEATRE
"What's in a title?"

Producer-director Jack Moss, when handling "Snafu," the George Abbott screen production of his Broadway stage hit currently playing under Columbia Pictures' release at the Dominion Theatre, had cause to wonder. "Snafu," in soldier language, is a contraction of "situation normal, all fouled up."

On the first day of shooting, the camera crane got out of commission. Then a cable snapped, dashing a chandelier to the floor of the set. Next, in a kitchen scene, the kettle of soup boiled over, requiring a delay till the mess was cleaned up on floor and range.

"Hey," yelled Moss at length. "realism is swell, but we needn't take this 'snafu' business to literally."

Wrote Own Obituary: Died 23 Days Later

DALLAS (AP)—Joe F. Kempton, 59, vice-president of the Texas Farm and Ranch Magazine, died of a heart attack Friday, three weeks after a presentiment of death had caused him to write his own obituary and arrange for a late afternoon funeral for the convenience of his businessmen friends.

Kempton wrote his obituary for Dallas newspapers April 24 and asked that it be published just as he wrote it.

He even set the time for his funeral—"at 4 p.m., should I die in the summer time, since this hour is more convenient for the businessmen who are my friends."

CAPITOL THEATRE

The relentless and savage fight of a girl to completely monopolize the interest and affection of the man she loves in the dramatic theme of "Leave Her to Heaven," 20th Century-Fox's technicolor film version presented by Darryl F. Zanuck of the Ben Ames Williams best-seller, which stars Gene Tierney, Cornel Wilde and Jeanne Crain, currently at the Capitol Theatre.

The story revolves around beautiful Ellen Berent, who wants to be loved as intensely as she herself loves—and who will stop at nothing, even murder, to achieve what she wants.

To have her husband completely to herself, this girl cold-shoulders her own mother and sister, antagonizes his closest friends, lets his crippled younger brother drown, kills her own unborn child—and when she finally ends up as a suicide, deliberately makes her death look like murder.

Where To Go Tonight

ATLAS—Shirley Temple in "Kiss and Tell."
CADET—"Week End at Waldorf," starring Ginger Rogers.
CAPITOL—Gene Tierney and Cornel Wilde in "Leave Her to Heaven."
DOMINION—Robert Benchley and Vera Vague in "Snafu."
OAK BAY-PLAZA—"Blithe Spirit."
RIO—"Texas Masquerade," starring William Boyd
YORK—"Rhapsody in Blue," starring Robert Alda.

Hollywood Column

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Not all the important people in this town are listed in the movie credits. Almost as exalted are the head waiters, those polished gents who can deal you a ringside table or a seat next to the dirty dishes.

To many Hollywood inhabitants it is a professional necessity to be seen by producers, columnists and photographers. That's why men like Pancho achieve a vast amount of importance.

Pancho Allati has been around Hollywood since 1934 and is now maître d'hotel of the Beverly Hills Club. Born in Turin, Italy, 39 years ago, he has been in the business of feeding people since he was 17. He probably handles more famous eaters than any other man in his craft.

"Ah, it is not easy," he sighed, glancing about the room that contained such people as Jack Dempsey and Estelle Taylor, his divorced wife (they were together). Gene Fowler and Dame May Whitty. "Everybody wants a seat right in front. I have to angle them around to other tables."

Right now Pancho divides his domain into three rooms: a back room for doctors, lawyers, industrialists and others who don't have to be seen; a conference room where producers can manoeuvre deals, and the main room where the women can display their hats and the celebrities can be viewed.

Women are harder to take orders from than men, said Pancho, because the fair sex worries more about gaining weight. Pancho, who looks more Nordic than Italian, has a mind which retains a vast number of names and faces. His only difficulty is in keeping up with the rising stars and producers' girl friends. And what does he do for relaxation after serving Hollywood's great?

"I go to the hitching post theatre to see a western movie," he admitted.

New Island Map

A four-color map of Southern Vancouver Island has been compiled by Joseph B. Davenport and published by the Island Blueprint & Map Co., 715 View Street.

The "area covered" is as far north as Ladysmith and west to Jordan River, including the Greater Victoria area, the Saanich Peninsula and the Gulf Islands.

All roads with names, primary, secondary and other roads are clearly defined along with land districts with names, original sections and timber blocks with numbers and railways, rivers, parks, and Indian reserves.

Such is the case with the latest production involving the celebrated "Avenger," titled "The Wife of Monte Cristo," which is coming soon to the York Theatre.

OAK BAY-PLAZA THEATRES

Rex Harrison and Margaret Rutherford consult the crystal on how to dematerialize the mischievous ghost of Rex's first wife Elvira in Noel Coward's sophisticated technicolor comedy, "Blithe Spirit," now at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres through United Artists.

Margaret Rutherford plays Madame Arcati, a bizarre and ethereal medium through whose psychic talents Elvira returns to earth.

for the plot of Bill's 50-50 characterization of Hoppy, and the squeamish way he fingered his cuffed collar and tried to keep the creases in his pants had his fellow-players in roars of laughter, just as it will have his legion of fans when they see the Harry Sherman production, "Texas Masquerade," at the Rio Theatre today through United Artists release.
